iConnect3: CSCL's Staff Conference is back!

CSCL strives to be a learning organization that encourages the growth and development of its employees in the pursuit of our mission and vision.

Our focus on building social capital for the individuals we support could only be brought to fruition through the buy-in and commitment of our dedicated staff.

To foster the learning, we are pleased to be hosting our 3rd Annual Staff Conference focused on developing our social capital building skills – “iConnect 3”!

CSCLers will take over the Best

Western Conference Rooms for two days in November as we learn together under the tutelage of Dr. Al Condeluci.

We are thrilled that he will be joining us for the full two days; kicking off each day with a key note address outlining the specific steps to building Social Capital.

We have added a “Dear Dr. Al” component when he will answer questions and challenges put forward by our staff in advance of the conference.

Each afternoon session will feature facilitated learning circles and group report back under Dr. Al’s guidance.

We plan to share some social capital “success” stories and then have Dr. Al wrap up the day with encouragement and inspiration to keep moving the initiative forward at CSCL and in our community.

Families interested in hearing Dr. Al will have opportunity on Sunday, November 5th at 2:30 p.m. when he will present to board and family members.

Contact our reception at 604-792-7726 to reserve your free ticket (space is limited – first come first served).

Meet The Board

CSCL's Board of Directors plays a pivotal role in the strategic direction of the work we do as a Society.

Jacqueline MacGregor is a new CSCL Board Member. We asked Jacqueline a few questions in a forum we call "Meet the Board"

Q: You were born in Australia – what is the biggest difference living in Canada?

A: Definitely the four distinct seasons we experience here. I didn't own a winter coat when I moved here, that changed rapidly.

Q: You work as a palliative care nurse – why nursing?

A: I fell in love with working in palliative care when I went to a hospice open house and attended a conference. We are all going to face it and helping terminally ill people and their families is a privilege in my opinion. My mum had ALS, that also was a determining factor in my career choice. People are so grateful to have support, comfort, even just someone to listen to them.

Q: You've said Chilliwack has a "warm community spirit" – what do you mean by that?

A: Yes, Chilliwack absolutely has a warm community spirit. As soon as I moved here, I found everyone said hi and smiled. This was felt by me in businesses, restaurants, banks, etc. Most people I deal with are polite and kind, my friends and family says the same thing when they come to visit so it must be true.

CSCL History

by Brenda Gillette

I don't know how many conferences and training events I have attended over the years always with optimism, promising myself that I would find some small piece of new information that would recharge my batteries and give me a jump start in my professional life. Several years ago, I had the opportunity to attend the International Short Break Association's annual conference in Toronto. The keynote speaker was Dr. Al Condeluci; his message was simple and clear – involve people more broadly in community and their quality of life will improve. The message was not new but Dr. Al's sincerity and enthusiasm was overwhelming and struck a chord with me. I knew that if communicated well, this very fundamental thought could be captured and shared and brought to real life in our community. I struggled through the conference crowd to introduce myself and find a way to make a connection with him... and the rest as they say "is history". I am so excited by the positive growth I see and hear about at CSCL; the stories are significant and demonstrate the power of social capital brought about through connections that are facilitated by the many staff, individuals and families working for an inclusive community.

Conversations Matter

A sampling of a CSCL employee reflection (with explicit permission) after watching a selected Conversations That Matter video from Norm and Emma's website.

Video: Living an Envable Life

CSCL Staff Reflection: This is a candid, very touching exchange between Kunc and Frazee. It offers a gift of perspective for all of us, into an experience that proves difficult to fully grasp, even after watching the entire segment. It is difficult because it requires both cognitive and affective empathy in order to fully comprehend Frazee's experience. Such insight is what helps guide the work of the caregiver in ways that wards off the common assumptions we are all prone to. As psychologist Daniel Goleman would say, the least we can do is be fully present. Frazee helps us by pointing out the perceptions she often encounters from people who look at her predicament, functionally, and immediately make assumptions about her experience, given the 'limitations, incapacity and perhaps indignity'. Frazee does preface these words with a perception 'from the outside' as she describes it, emphasizing the shallowness of such views. In turn, she counts the many blessings in her life that validate her experience, suggesting that one does in fact return to a relatively stable level of happiness despite one's circumstances in life. Finally, Frazee is speaking directly to an internalized attitude that is held society-wide, which, according to the Stereotype Content Model is one of pity, contributing to paternalistic and disrespectful behaviour towards a person with a disability, largely a result of ignorance or difficulty in relating.

Board Update

The Board of Directors had a well-deserved break over the summer and reconvened on September 11th to a very full agenda.

The Board's governance role requires they review all annual reports. CSCL's Annual Compliance Report, Accessibility Plan, and Risk Register/Risk Management Plan were all reviewed and approved by the Board. All public plans can be accessed through CSCL's ShareVision database by clicking the "CSCL Reports" link.

To assess the feasibility of managing the organization's assets in a different way, the board will have a lawyer who specializes in non-profits and charities make a presentation at the October Board meeting.

Ode To Summer

As the breeze turns colder and the rain comes down, it is evident that summer is officially over and our Summer programs here at CYS have come to an end. What a great summer we had! All of our programs were full; our children and youth got to experience a variety of field trips including Science World, the Water slides, and the Abbotsford Trout Hatchery and River Rafting for our Wow Event. With our Fall programs now underway we have different adventures waiting in the wings including our Glee Club performances at our local seniors homes, our teen Halloween dance as well our Christmas Party in December.

Wind & Tide - A Perfect Match

Chilliwack's Wind & Tide Preschool had been operating out of a local elementary school for 10 years and was recently informed the preschool would no longer be able to operate out of that space. In their frantic need to locate another space that could accommodate their preschool classes (2 classes per day, 20 children each class, Monday – Friday, 8:30am-2:30pm) and still be able to meet licensing requirements – they began their search. They had several families in the community recommend they contact CSCL regarding the potential use of the Mathieson Centre. After several meetings, many discussions, an abundance of emails back and forth and a few revised drafts of a Partnership Contract – it was agreed that the Mathieson Centre (CSCL's Child & Youth Services Building) would be the location for the Wind & Tide

Ms. Rachele and Ms. Alannah are the Wind & Tide teachers.

Preschool for the 2017/2018 school year. Wind & Tide believes that every child deserves rich, life-enhancing knowledge. They want to inspire each child to make a difference in their world and they feel that this is best accomplished when each child's unique gifts and talents are recognized and appreciated in an authentic and caring manner. The Wind & Tide Preschool is an Inclusive program that welcomes any child and is in alignment with CSCL's vision of a "community that welcomes and includes everyone". This partnership will help to shine a light of acceptance on the diverse-abilities of each and every child. The Wind & Tide Preschool's philosophy and vision are aligned with CSCL so the partnership was an easy decision to make! Preschool classes started on September 11th, 2017 and will continue through until the end of June 2018. There are two Wind & Tide Preschool Teachers that are now based at the Mathieson Centre, their names are Ms. Rachele and Ms. Alannah...the next time you are at the Mathieson Centre please feel free to say hello and welcome them.
